STUDENT IS GUILTY OF RUM RUNNING

Walter J. O'Connor, Resident of Squirrel Hill, Pittsburgh, Enters Plea of Guilty — Fined $100 And Two Months to Jail

CONSTABLE MAKES ARREST

Accused Believed It Was Easy Money—His Mother In Court Feels Keenly Her Son's Predicament—Car Is Confiscated, And Will Be Sold By County

In the annals of criminology as they appertain to crime in this county, it is not often that the press has to record the delinquencies of students, and particularly, violators of the provisions of the Volstead act. But Walter J. O'Connor of Squirrel Hill, Pittsburgh, has learned, not only that the "ways of the transgressor are hard;" but also that rum-running in this county is not a profitable business, following an experience which he had in the court at Washington yesterday. O'Connor, who was driving a new Chevrolet machine with 25 gallons of moonshine on board, was arrested on July 1 in Hanover township by Constable W. F. Core of Burgettstown.

O'Connor entered a plea of guilty to the charge and told a very straightforward story to the court. He said that he had just bought the car and that a man came to the garage where he was working during the summer, and asked him if he knew of anyone who could make a trip for him to Steubenville, Ohio, to take over a load of liquor. He was told there would be $50 in it for him, $5 of which would be paid down when the load was put on and the remaining $45 when it was delivered.

O'Connor said it looked to him like some easy money, and he took a chance. He declared he did not know the man and stoutly asserted that he had never engaged in the business before. He was so frank in his statements that everyone who heard him was convinced that he was telling a straight story.

He was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and to serve two months in jail. He has been in jail since July 1, and will be given credit for the time served on his sentence.

His mother was in court yesterday and seemed to feel very keenly the young man's predicament, as did he. His car was confiscated at the time of the arrest and will be sold by the county.

Joseph Walatka, of Slovan, was found not guilty of a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated, but sentenced to pay the costs by a jury in Judge Cummins' court yesterday afternoon. It was alleged that on May 26 the car driven by Walatka collided with the car of Joseph Evans on the Hickory-Burgettstown road. Walatka was arrested shortly afterwards and was examined by a physician who pronounced him intoxicated. The Walatka car was put out of commission but the Evans car was not seriously damaged.

Frank Seik, of Canton township, who has been out of jail only a short time, where he was serving a term for liquor law violations, entered a plea of guilty yesterday to a second offense He was sentenced to pay the costs, fine of $500 and to undergo imprisonment in the county jail for 10 months. If the fine and costs are paid he will be released in five months

Clifford Jenkins, of Pittsburgh, colored, convicted of assault, was sentenced to pay the costs, fine of $1 and to undergo imprisonment in the workhouse for one year and six months. It appears that Jenkins was engaged to marry Lucile Clark of Allenport, when he had some trouble with her brother, Rufus Clark. The latter objected to Jenkins' attentions to his sister, and it is alleged that on April 20, last, Jenkins shot and wounded Clark in the leg.

Dom Pellizarri, of Vestaburg, upon a plea of guilty to the charge of the unlawful manufacture of liquor, was sentenced to pay the costs, fine of $200 and undergo imprisonment in the county jail for four months. If the fine and costs are paid he will be released in two months.

James Quinet, of Monongahela, charged with serious offense by a young woman of that community, was directed to pay the costs, fine of $1, pay $25 lying-in expenses and pay her $3 a week for the support of her child, until seven years of age and to give bond in the sum of $500 for faithful compliance with the court's order.

Indian Pipe Found Allegheny River Shore

Franklin, Aug 28—An Indian ceremonial pipe which doubtless has laid beneath the sand and stones of the Allegheny River shores for years, was found near the Cochran farm by Giles Thomas. The pipe, made of soapstone, is carved into the semblance of a bird with outstretched wings.

The relic is very heavy and must to use. It probably was a pipe of the kind that was passed around the circle of squatting Indian in council The bowl is quite large and would easily contain two ounces of tobacco.

Chief Justice Caverly Will Sentence Chicago Murderers Sept. 10th

Criminal Court Room, Chicago, August 28.—The fate of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb rests in the hands of Chief Justice John R. Caverly.

Hearing of evidence and arguments for and against the youthful slayers of 14-year-old Robert Franks was completed today with a fiery denunciation of Nathan and Richard by State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe Crowe concluded his speech with a whirlwind of invectives.

He termed the murderers of Robert Franks the "direst in the history of Chicago and the murderers classed with rattlesnakes."

The crime was committed he said, simply for the $10,000 ransom.

When the state's attorney sat down, tired and perspiring from his three-day argument, a few minutes were consumed in reviewing the evidence of the indictment charging Nathan and Richard with kidnaping for ransom, which was supplementary to the evidence charging them with murder. The court then adjourned and the hearing, one of the most sensational on record, was completed

Nothing remains but for Justice Caverly to sentence the slayers. He has three choices: Hang them, sentence them to life imprisonment, or to sentence them to a term in the penitentiary for not less than 14 years.

Justice Caverly announced that he would impose sentence on September 10 at 9:30 a. m.

Justice Caverly also announced that on the day of sentence no spectators would be admitted. Only members of the press, members of the families of the persons involved in the case, and the various attorneys will be permitted in the court room

TEN MORE YEARS TO MAP THE STATE

Harrisburg, August 28.—It will require ten more years to complete the topographic map of Pennsylvania started in 1836, unless the legislature decided to increase the appropriation for this work, Dr. George H. Ashley declared.

At present 72 per cent of the state has been mapped by state geologists since the formation of the survey. The cost of mapping has been reduced, according to Dr. Ashley, from $42 to $27 a square mile. In five years, he said, 16 per cent of the total area of the state was added to the 56 per cent accomplished prior to the organization of the present geological survey.

The object of the map, Dr. Ashley stated, was to add to the knowledge of the state's resources which has been responsible for the pre-eminence of Pennsylvania today.

The topographical map of the state was started as the result of the formation of the Geological Society of Pennsylvania in 1832 "to construct an accurate geological map of the state." The first survey was organized in 1836, the second in 1874 and its revival after publication of its report in 1893 of a survey under a state commission in 1898. For ten years then it operated with the U. S. Geological survey.

In 1908 a state geologist was provided for but the survey got little support and was abolished in 1919 when the present fourth survey was established. Dr. Ashley, who conducted most of the work in Pennsylvania for the U. S Geological survey in cooperation with the state was appointed state geologist in 1919.

MANY INJURED IN BIG OCEAN STORM

New York, August 28—Two great ocean liners battered by giant seas in a terrific storm which raged in the Atlantic Tuesday, were in port here today while more than fifty of their passengers suffered from injuries when they were thrown about by the force of great waves which all but engulfed the ships.

The Arabic of the White Star line, which radioed for ambulances to meet her at the dock, was the most severely hit and 12 of her passengers were taken to hospitals at once when she docked late Wednesday. Twenty four others were treated by surgeons and taken to their homes or hotels.

The Homeric, of the Hame line, also as hard hit and seven of her passengers were injured.

The Arabic was a veritable hospital ship as the steamer [illegible] more than three score of her passengers being stretched out on matresses on deck.

Sea captains said the storm was the worst they ever had encountered and additional stories of the fury of the hurricane are expected as other liners limped into port during the day.

[illegible] vessels caught in the storm may have suffered even more severely than the big liners and awaited anxiously for news of ships in the South and Central American and West Indies trade.

A new storm was reported moving northward from the West Indian hurricane zone.

The Danish steamer Nordfarer, enroute from South American ports, reported that her captain had been washed from the Bridge and lost. The captain of the Doheny tanker, Gerro Ebano also blown from his bridge, but managed to cling to a lower deck rail. A member of the crew was blown overboard and lost.

One fireman was dashed against a beam and his back broken.

As soon as the first force of the storm was felt the ship's surgeon organized a volunteer hospital crew and ordered whisky distributed to the most severely drenched.

The Giuseppe Verdi, of the Italian trans-Atlantic line also was caught in the storm and three persons were injured.

None of the persons injured aboard the Arabic were reported to be in a dangerous condition.

Among those injured and their hospital reports today

Miss Mary R. Billett, 39 802 North Duke street, Lancaster, Pa., lacerations of the scalp and possible internal injuries. Condition improved today

John Barringer, 2, 103 Walnut street, Philadelphia; lacerations of head. Not serious.

Mrs. Gallagher, 1633 Brownsville road, Pittsburgh, Pa., broken nose and lacerations of face. Probably will leave hospital today.

Miss Ethel Lowe, Pittsburgh, bruised body, recovering.

Mrs. E. T. Roberts, Bloomsburg, Pa., broken shoulder; not serious.

Among those whose injuries were not sufficiently serious to necessitate going to hospitals:

Miss E. Becker, Lebanon, Pa., lacerations of face.

Miss L. Keller, Footsville, Pa., sprained arm and wrist.

A TERRIFIC STORM DELAYS THE FLIERS

Aboard the U. S. Richmond, Aug. 28—A terrific storm lashing the Artic waters into a fury along the route which American fliers expect to hop to Labrador, may further delay the flight.

The trip from Ivigutut to Indian Harbor has already been postponed [illegible] owing to adverse weather reports and poor facilities for installing new motors in the two planes.

The Richmond is now anchored at Ice Tickle Harbor, just three miles west of Indian Harbor.

The gale swung north from the Maine coast Tuesday and hit here late Wednesday afternoon. It was accompanied by a heavy rain storm. Reports from Ivigtut are that rain is falling there. Present plans call for the fliers to arrive at Ice Tickle harbor, a wide circular cove. During the flight the Richmond will be stationed 25 miles out from the harbor.

At a conference board ship last night, assignment of the ships for the flight down the coast were made. The Lawrence will leave a few hours after arrival of the fliers and take up a position just off Halifax. After the fliers leave here the Richmond will go direct to Boston.

THAT SO-CALLED "COOLIDGE MYTH."

In political camps opposed to Calvin Coolidge there is endless wailing about "the Coolidge myth." There was much muttering concerning it among Democrats recently gathered at Clarksburg. The legend of "Silent Cal" has got on the frayed nerves of Democracy. Democrats will undertake to "puncture" what they call "the Coolidge myth." They talk of it as if it were some bubble to be broken, some misty thing of dreams and painted shadows.

And yet they seem more fearful of it than anything else in the campaign; and there is sound reason for that fear. What they term "the Coolidge myth" is the fact that somehow the country is convinced that Calvin Coolidge is an able and steadfast, cool, considering and common-sense, shrewd and amazingly silent New Englander. Around him gathers a "Coolidge legend" and in him is a personality that somehow appeals to the average citizen as no personality has since Roosevelt.

There are now as many quaintly dry "Coolidge stories" as there are "Ford stories." Not one of them, drifting cross-country, through hotel lobbies, smoking-cars and over "line fences," in any way hurt the Coolidge chances.

They are, in fact, political assets. Some of them are dryly humorous. Others have the "David Harum" twang of crossroads shrewdness. Many show the country shyness under the Coolidge "coldness." All of them stress the silence of the man, his stinginess with words. The very nickname of "Silent Cal" is worth votes among a people weary of the everlasting yammer of the politician. "Silence stories" have become part of the Coolidge picture. They are woven into the "Coolidge folklore" and through "the Coolidge myth" that so annoys the Democrats.

In "puncturing" what they call "the Coolidge myth" Democracy has undertaken a stiff job. It has a long start on its enemies, and there is nothing mythical about the thing they hope to destroy. If it is to be wiped out, the whole record and character of the man around whom it is built must be wiped out.

For it is the reasoned as well as instinctive public appraisal of an absolute honesty in thought and deed of New England thrift, Yankee shrewdness, plain "horse sense" and a taciturnity that amounts to silence. Into it has been built the record of Calvin Coolidge in public and private life, his slow climb through city and State positions of trust and power to the governorship of Massachusetts, to the vice presidency and at last to the House of Rulers.

It is the public belief in the courage and character of Coolidge that keeps the Democracy awake at night. If the Democrats could rob this shrewd, wiry, dry, wry, patient and hard-working figure of this solid grip upon the imagination of plain men everywhere, they would have right and reason to be happy.

The time when that might have been done passed with his first message to Congress. There was nothing "mythical" in the character and courage then and there revealed. There was no fishing for votes for his stand on the bonus, the League, the farm situation and on the Mellon tax plan. That single message really shaped and made full-bodied the figure of Calvin Coolidge, stamping in on the Nation's mind. He grew and rounded out in his struggles with a vote-seeking and bloc-ridden Congress.

The Democrats and La Follettistas will have a hard time with "the Coolidge myth." A most durable thing, it is, in fact, anything but a "myth." Partisan sharpshooting cannot dent, nor mudslinging tarnish it, for it is no more and no less than the average man's estimate of the Coolidge record and personality, courage and ch[illegible]

HARRY FAY LOSES BUT DECISION IS QUESTIONABLE ONE

A clipping from the Pittsburgh Sun of last night states substantially that Harry Fay, if not robbed, was given a raw decision in his setto with "Billy" Britton. He should have been given the verdict, or at least a draw. The Sun says:

"Some reports indicate that Harry Fay, the former Charleroi, McKeesport and Pittsburgh battler, was given a questionable deal when Billy Britton was awarded the decision over him in their bout at Columbus, Ohio, Monday night. One Columbus writer, W. F. McKinnon, though calling it a "mistaken opinion," tells of the dissatisfaction in evidence among the spectators as follows: "Billy Britton, blonde youth from Columbus, Kan., who waded knee deep into Columbus, O. favor something like a month ago when he boxed 12 boiling rounds wth Ted Moore of England, was given the decision over Harry Fay of Louisville after 12 sessions of "gingerbread" fussing at the Fairmont arena. The decision was not an entirely popular one, scores of fans growling in stentorian tones brought on through the mistaken opinion that Fay at least deserved a draw if not the decision."

BEAVER FALLS ELKS AND CHARLEROI TIE SEASON'S BEST GAME

Charlie Davis, batting for Costello in the eighth inning, drove the ball to left field for a clean drive, thus spoiling Joe Drugman's chance to enter the hall of fame, as Davis' hit was the only safe bingle that Charleroi made through eight stirring innings. Davis was out of the contest with an injured digit, his place in right field being taken by Consonery. As for the game, the greatest of the season on the local lot, it was called on the eighth inning by Umpire Gaughen on account of the incoming evening shadows, with the players unable to see the ball clearly. The score was 0-0.

The contest was witnessed by a small crowd, as usual, too small when the merits of the visiting club were taken into consideration. The opposing pitchers were Beatty and Drugman, a left-hand hurler and was as pretty a pitcher's duel as one could wish to witness. Drugman only allowed the one hit, as aforementioned, and while Beatty gave three, one of them a decided scratch was made by McBride. The other two were garnered by McCullough, his two-base blow being a hit about six inches inside of first base—a lucky drive. While the visiting twirler struck out eight, he was wild, but his change of pace had the locals guessing, causing them to strike at many wide balls. Beatty pitched one of the best games of his career, and had the sluggers from Beaver Falls guessing. He was given excellent support by Smith and Yengst, in particular, their starting of double plays being scientillating. One of the features of R R TAOIOO A feature of game was that outfielders had practically nothing to do, the players being unable to drive the sphere outside of the infield. The score:

DeMarco Gets Chance In Elimination Battle With O'Brien Tonight

The Queensboro Athletic club of New York will make another attempt to put over their weekly boxing, which has twice been rained out, this evening at the Queensboro stadium. Over in Brooklyn the Rink Athletic club will give the indoor season a start this evening.

Both the Rink and the Queensboro feature three star 10-round bouts.

The Long Island City boxing center presents a rather attractive offering in view of the fact that it will be the first appearance in that vicinity of Ernie Gooseman and also due to the fact that the Caddy Demarco-Tommy O'Brien semi-final is expected to have considerable bearing on the lightweight situation.

Gooseman, who hails from Milwaukee, has been causing quite a stir among the bantams and featherweights of the middle west. It is expected that he will have considerable to say when it comes to determining just who is to be the successor to the laurels discarded by Johnny Dundee. He tackles Bud Dempsey, George Ward and Willie Harmon clash in the final.

DeMarco is one of the 10 selections named to fight it out for the right to meet Benny Leonard for the lightweight crown. He boasts victories over Jack Bernstein and other good men. Tommy O'Brien has also been commanding considerable attention of late and has shown himself to be a fast and clever boxer and a sharp hitter. A victory for O'Brien means that he will displace DeMarco as a lightweight title contender.

STRIBLING AND BERLENBACH FIGHT TO A DRAW

W. L. (Young) Stribling, Georgia light-heavyweight, and Paul Berlenbach, slugging New Yorker, fought to a draw tonight in a slashing battle between two of the ring's youngest and latest fistic sensations.

A shade of ringside newspaper opinion apparently favored Stribling but there was little outburst of approval when the judges declared the match a draw after six rounds of speedy fighting before a crowd of approximately 25,000 in the New York Velodrome, Tex Rickard's Harlem arena.

Berlenbach was beaten by Harry Fay.

"DON'T WAIT."

PIRATES BAT LUSTILY BUT NOT ABLE TO BUNCH THEIR DRIVES

Bill McKechnie's squad had to choose yesterday between gaining or losing half a game of the margin which separates them from the front of the procession and they decided it would be cruel to take advantage of the Giants who were not scheduled to play and therefore had no chance to mutilate any of their trembling rivals. The Pirates succeeded in losing quite handily to the Phils, 7-6, in the last engagement of the year for an eastern club on western soil.

Skipper McKechnie used 17 players in an attempt to overcome the damage which had been done earlier in the afternoon. Four of these athletes occupied the box in the middle of the diamond, but the first of the quartet, Eddie Pfeffer, was unable to muster enough stuff to sidetrack a pair of slugging spasms and 3,500 fans were forced to sit and see a ball game that had about as much color as the bottom of a coal shaft.

One of the saddest features of the day was the fact that the Buccaneers pounded out sufficient safe smashes to have sunk a battle squadron, but they simply could not collect enough markers to bother the foe. They ran up a string of 16 blows, including a homer, two triples and a double. The four-bagger was delivered by Eddie Moore whose bludgeon was responsible for three other smacs.

"THE GIRL IN THE LIMOUSINE" AT MAJESTIC

Telling an uproariously farcical story, in which one humorous situation follows another in rapid succession, "The Girl in the Limousine" which comes to the Majestic theatre tomorrow and Saturday, promises to be one of the most popular and memorable comedies this popular local amusement house has ever screened.

Larry Semon, most versatile and most daring of all screen comedians plays the stellar role. Semon has heretofore been seen only in two reel comedies, but in this picture of feature length he proves his ability to keep an audience enthralled and amused for every minute of the hour and a quarter that the picture shows. Charles Murray, another veteran comedian, contributes some excellent comedy as the butler and Claire Adams is a beautiful and charming heroine.

In addition the final chapter of the "Telephone Girl" will be produced.

Found Relief in Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Always Recommends It

Bridgeport, Connecticut.—"I was completely run-down, had headaches, dizzy, faint feelings and other troubles women often have. As I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before, my husband said to take it again. I have now taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine, the Liver Pills, and six boxes of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets. I am feeling very good now and shall continue taking them for a while. I have been telling my cousin about the medicine and she wants to take it, too. I always recommend it."—Mrs. HENRY C. SMITH, R.F.D. No. 3, Box 6, Bridgeport, Conn.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for such conditions. It has in many cases relieved those symptoms by removing the cause of them. Mrs. Smith's experience is but one of many.

In a recent country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, over 121,000 replies were received, and 98 per cent. reported they were benefited by its use. For sale by druggists everywhere.
